The feeling of optimism we spoke about in last week's diary seems to have been justified by the outcome of the SADC summit in Johannesburg. We could have hoped for no more: President Zuma has grasped the devil by the horns. It must have been wonderful to behold when, one by one, SADC leaders dozed off during Mugabe's 45 minute rant as it became clear that the devil had been dehorned – clear if only because a senile Mugabe addressed Zuma as 'Mandela' and then, when apprised of his mistake, compounded it by assuming Mandela was dead. 'God rest his soul', he said. The Vigil wishes the same to Robert – as soon as possible.

SADC leaders made it obvious in Sandton that they have had enough of Mugabe's prevarications. They are impatient to move on. As the Botswana Vice President Mompoti Merafhe said, the region was sick and tired of the Zimbabwe problem. But what is not yet obvious is whether SADC has the bottle to deal with the problem. After all, Mugabe may have lost his horns but there is still plenty of devil left.

A quick opinion survey at the Vigil – in between short, sharp showers – produced three alternatives. We quickly ruled out the first: that Mugabe would comply with SADC's demand that he honour his obligations under the GPA by the next SADC meeting in Luanda in August. (All Zimbabweans know this is out of the question, not least the GPA negotiators who rushed back to Harare and promptly decided to have a meeting next month.)

There was more debate about the so-called nuclear option: would Chiwenga decide to reject SADC? The military is stupid, yes – but this stupid?

But the third option, we decided as we dodged the showers, was the more likely – if only because it is what Zanu PF has always done: pretend to go along with the GPA while putting every obstacle in the way. So what can we expect? No-one can say that Zanu PF is not outrageous. They could, for instance, arrest Tsvangirai for murdering Police Inspector Petros Mutedza in Mbare. After all they have arrested loads of other MDC people for it. Anything to collapse the government so they can hold an 'emergency election' and – lo and behold – who will be pulled out of the hat blinking through his cataract eyes? Yes – that old devil!

For a Zanu PF view of the SADC developments from one of their many people in the UK the Vigil refers you to Lloyd Msipa (see:

http://www.zimbabwesituation.com/jun15_2011.html#Z3

– SADC summit: Sanctions remain MDC's burden). According to the UK Telegraph on 4th

December 2010 ‘

Two years ago Lloyd Msipa, a Zimbabwe-born approved adviser, was given a suspended prison sentence after charging people hundreds of pounds for advice he was not entitled to provide, while working for a not-for-profit voluntary organisation.’ (See:

Other points

·□□□□□□□□ As we mentioned in our diary of 11th June, a member of the Vigil management team, Ephraim Tapa

, has been elected President of the new Zimbabwe

‘Yes We Can’ Movement. Ephraim is President of our sister organisation Restoration of Human Rights in Zimbabwe (ROHR). He attended a meeting of the Zimbabwe Vigil management team on Wednesday 15th

June to explain the new movement. He said it was a grass roots global movement for REAL change with wide support in Zimbabwe and the Zimbabwean diaspora in the UK and South Africa. Ephraim said there had unfortunately been some misinformation on the internet claiming that□ the movement was a political party.□ He said there was to be a meeting of the

, the US

Zimbabwe

‘Yes We Can’ Movement on 25th

June to agree a constitution and positions on issues. Ephraim said how the movement developed depended on the response of ordinary Zimbabweans and what they wanted from it. People must realise they can make a difference and have the courage and confidence to act for REAL change. The Vigil management team agreed to support the Zimbabwe

‘Yes We Can’ Movement.□

Vigil Co-ordinator

Dumi Tutani

was chosen as Vigil representative to the movement.

· We get nutters visiting the Vigil most weeks but they were extraordinarily prolific this week. For instance we had a very drunk man swigging from a bottle of whisky dancing with us. We were worried he might fall and break the bottle and injure himself. Another man was very angry and shouted at Vigil supporters while we were praying and yet another said he had a panacea for sorting out our problems (including the human rights abuses and lack of democracy in Zimbabwe) as long as we listened to him and did what he said – he talked about tolerance but got very angry when we tried to respond. (We are trying to get the three together.)

· The Secretary-General of SADC, Tomaz Salomão of Mozambique, is to address a meeting in London on Tuesday (for details of the meeting see Events and Notices). Everyone will remember him for endorsing the last Zimbabwean elections as free and fair. If anyone goes to the meeting they might like to ask why the SADC secretariat has never replied to our communications which have included the submission of various petitions. Was this a policy of arrogant disregard of normal courtesies or just inefficiency, which is known to characterise the secretariat?

· Thanks to Juliet Musandirire for providing soft drinks today. Also to Caroline Witts who came from Exeter and took care of the front table in the absence of our regulars and to Mercy Muranganwa for looking after the back table with 4 children in tow (one a baby on her back).

· The Zimbabwe Association has moved into new offices – check Refugee Information.
